(AP) — Industries worked hard to prevent emergencies, but if a major accident were to happen nearby, Sweetwater County has the best mine rescue teams in the nation ready to respond. Local teams ruled at the national competition in Kentucky late last month, performing a return to the local tradition of county rivalry dominance. Genesis Blue team members returned home with national championship trophies in field competition, while Clear Blue edged them out by 2.5 points to earn overall champion honors and a large traveling trophy. Eight local teams — two from each town mine — from each town mine — departed for Lexington, Kentucky, for the Metal and Non-Metal 2018 National Mine Rescue Contest. Forty-two teams from 16 states challenged one another in three major categories. "I am extremely proud of them."
