

This will be Hall's fourth term as a director of the association, having served previously in 1973 as vice president.

The main promotions of the IMDA are the three Camel Pro National Championship Miles Races at the Springfield and Du Quoin State Fair grounds. The association also watches over the legislation having to do with motorcycles and ATVs and is effective in trying to promote goodwill for the industry and riders as a whole.

Mine rescue team completes season

Kerr-McGee Coal Corp.'s

Galatia Mine Rescue Team has completed the 1989 mine rescue competition season with an enviable record. Entered in eight major competitions from May through mid-September, the team finished in the top three in seven of the eight competitions.

At the Illinois State competition, the team placed second and in the benchman's contest, Galatia team member Jim Stearns placed first.

The Galatia team placed second out of a total of 89 competing teams from across the country at the National Mine Rescue Contest held in Louisville. Led by Tim Kirpatrick, the team also won the Illinois Governor's trophy.

The goal of all the mine rescue teams is to be ready in the event of a disaster.
