The State of Colorado has a rich history of mining which began in the mid-1800s. Many books have been written about Colorado's mining towns with the most noted authors being John K. Aldrich, Robert L. Brown, Perry Eberhart, and George R. Eicher. In the mid-1800s there was no organized reporting of mine fatalities but in 1884 the death of 59 miners at the Crested Butte coal mine in Gunnison County inspired the State of Colorado to pass legislation requiring mining companies to report their accidents, both fatal and nonfatal. These annual and biannual reports which are listed in the Bibliography were used in the preparation of this book.

Colorado's major mine accidents, their causes, and number of men killed are as follows:

- January 24, 1884, Crested Butte Mine, Gunnison Co., Colorado Coal & Iron Co., gas and dust explosion ignited by a lamp, 59 killed.

The major mine accidents in Colorado which resulted in a large number of fatalities at one time were caused by gas and dust explosions in underground coal mines. However there also were a large number of fatalities which resulted from accidents involving one or two people. Based upon the 1934 to 1938 time period, the leading cause of these small accidents in decreasing order of frequency are listed below.

Causes Underground:

1. Falls of roof (rock, coal or draw slate) - the most common cause of fatalities
2. Falls of face or rib
3. Mine cars and mine locomotives
4. Explosions of gas or coal dust
5. Explosives (not including those in No. 4)
6. Shaft and slope
7. Electricity (not resulting in explosions)
8. Suffocation from natural gases (not from mine fires and explosions)
9. Mine fires (burns, suffocations, etc.)
10. Roof fall due to car or machine knocking out post
11. Rush of coal, rock, or gob
12. Other falling material or objects (not being handled by injured worker)
13. Falls of persons
14. Hand tools
15. Handling materials
16. Stepping on nails or other sharp objects

Causes Surface (including tipple, breaker, shops & yards):

1. Explosives - the most common cause of fatalities
2. Mine cars and mine locomotives
3. Railway cars and locomotives
4. Electricity (shock or burns)
5. Machinery on surface
6. Falling objects
7. Falls of persons
8. Handling materials
9. Hand tools
10. Boiler explosions or bursting steam pipes

In 1920, a poll was taken to determine the nationality of the 12,799 men employed in and about coal mines in Colorado. The results of this poll for the more common nationalities is as follows:

Nationality	No. of Men
American	3651

Bohemians	63
Swedes	63
Finlanders	54
Rumanians	38

In the Bibliography list below are given libraries which possess the annual reports. Often more detailed information on the accidents listed is given in these references. In the fatality lists the first three letters of a county's name was used for the county abbreviation except for the following counties:

MOZ - Montezuma

RIB - Rio Blanco

RIG - Rio Grande

SAJ - San Juan

SAM - San Miguel

In addition BD. means buried.

Information which may be given for each entry which follows is the name of the person killed, their occupation, nationality, age at death, marital status (S = single, M = married, W = widow), number of surviving children, years of mining experience, county in which the accident occurred, company's name, mine name, date died, cause of the accident, and other comments.

As of April 2004, there were 23,500 reports in this database with 32,767 names, but the collection is expanded on a regular basis. For Colorado fatalities, there are only about 553 fatalities listed beginning with about January 23, 1907. This is only 10% of the actual fatalities.
