UNIONTOWN, FAYETTE COUNTY, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1962

SEVEN CENTS

50,000 Greet Our State Champs

A SERIOUS MOMENT—It was not all "roses" for Uniontown's basketball team, as this picture shows. Coach Abo Everhart "pointedly" makes his point to Ron Seple (bowling), Pete Smith (51), Don Yates (behind Smith), Allyn Curry and Tom Fee during a time out in the third quarter when Norristown came within five points.

Raiders Rout Norristown, 70-57

Family Legend Upheld

By J. M. BENNETT

A "tired" but happy Uniontown High School basketball team returned home Sunday evening, crowned with glory.

Saturday night, the Red Raiders encountered a talented Norristown quintet at the Harrisburg Farm Show Arena and "shot down" the Flying Eagles, 70-57, to win the PIAA Class A state championship.

Thus, another chapter has been added to the A. J. Everhart Legend. It was just 37 years ago when Uniontown won its first state title.

But Saturday night Coach A. J. (Abe) Everhart duplicated a feat accomplished by his father in 1925 by guiding his 1962 club to a decisive victory in the "Turnpike Classic," as this annual event has been dubbed by the Harrisburg Sunday Patriot-News.

The new State Champions, succeeding Nanticoke, finished the season with a 29-2 record. Norristown suffered its fifth loss with 22 victories.

Top Effort

In downing Norristown, Uniontown put on display before 8,233 fans (7,827 paid) its greatest team performance of the season. Led by the fantastic Don Yates—who played only 15 minutes and 17 seconds, yet scored 22 points—Everhart got outstanding performances from Ron Seple, Allyn Curry, Tom Fee, Pete Smith and Bennett Gregory.

Their play—loudly applauded, vocally as well as physically—broke the game wide open late in the second quarter and early in the third.

Even though Norristown reduced a 14-point (45-31) deficit to five (46-41) in less than three minutes, the Raiders regained command and shot off the Eagles' tap with a fourth period spurge which netted 22 points.

The Raiders put a damper on Norristown's 6-7 center, Jim Williams, and pretty much contained 5-10 playmaker Don Cartwright.

UNIONTOWN HIGH'S STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPS WELCOMED HERE—With aid from the weatherman, Uniontown High's 1962 state basketball champions were welcomed home in major fashion late yesterday. The route of the procession for the titular Red Raiders included Connellsville, Main and Fayette Sts. The turnout of local and district followers of the Raiders was variously estimated from 45,000 to 50,000 persons all along the route. Scene above is Main St., between N. Gallatin and Beeson Blvd. Immediately ahead of Herald cameraman John Pollak is Uniontown fire equipment which carried Head Coach Albert J. Everhart and some of his Red Raiders. They'll Parade Today

Colonel John H. Glenn had his "Day," but locally it would have to take second place to the one Uniontown High's tremendous basketball team received here last evening.

Upward to 50,000 enthusiastic Red Raider fans—young and old alike—turned out to greet the 1962 PIAA State basketball champions when they arrived from Harrisburg, scene of one of Uniontown's greatest court victories.

It was at Harrisburg Farm Show Arena where the Red Raiders "pressed" the Norristown Flying Eagles for a 70-57 victory to nail down only their second State championship in history.

The festivities began at Connellsville at approximately 3:15 p.m. The New Haven Fire Department band and equipment escorted the players and coaches through the city.

Official Group

Then the South Connellsville Fire Department picked up the tempo and brought the players and coaches to Gaddis Crossroads where a motorcade led by the school's Booster Club, a police escort, the school's cheerleaders, majorettes and band, Mayor J. Watson Sembover and Dr. Don S. Glass, superintendent of City schools took over.

Students in a pickup truck displaying a Raider sign estimated 25 feet wide and 6 feet high came next. The sign greeted the team:

WELCOME TEAM, 1962 STATE CHAMPS. A GOOD JOB, ABE!

Then the players' names were listed across the bottom.

Riding in an open convertible was All-State Star Don Yates atop the back seat, flanked by Bennett Gregory and Dick Barnes.

Yates had the game ball and kept losing it in the air and catching it—that is, when he (Continued on Page 12)

Recover Body Of Coal Exec

Jay Jamison In Creek Tragedy

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—The body of a coal company president was recovered from a nearby creek Sunday about a half mile downstream from where his wrecked auto was found last week.

The body of Jay C. Jamison Jr., 48, of Greensburg, was found by firemen near the Kingston Dam on the Loyalhanna Creek. He was president of the South Union Coal Co.

Firemen had been searching for the body almost continuously during daylight hours since Jamison's car was found on its roof in the creek last Tuesday night.

A relative said Jamison had left Ligonier in his car on Tuesday night after driving his son to a friend's home.

French Fight Secret Army

Savage Battle In Oran Sector

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—French troops and Secret Army Organization extremists fought Sunday for control of Oran in a savage battle that lasted into the night. The French government warned Algeria's rebellious Europeans to accept peace with the Muslims or face the opposition of the entire world.

Infuriated European settlers, desperately opposing Algerian independence, blocked off midtown Oran—Algeria's second city—with makeshift barricades and defied French military police with a hail of bullets from rifles, pistols and submachine guns.

Aerial Bursts

The fighting died down, but flared again after two French planes made low passes over the area, firing bursts from heavy machine guns. The French moved army tanks and halftracks near the center of the city. Tracer bullets crisscrossed the night sky as troops and gendarmes raided buildings in the European sector.

The secret army first said it was pulling its commandos back to avoid conflict with French draftees, but then the shooting continued. Oran is a major secret army stronghold.

At one point in the day's fighting secret army commandos sought to block a convoy of tanks with parked cars. The lead tank set one of the cars afire, then rolled over a small French car, crushing it.

Fire Sweeps Radio Unit

Tyrone Stations Resume Programs

TYRONE, Pa. (AP)—Fire destroyed the broadcasting facilities of two Tyrone radio stations early Sunday morning, but both stations were on the air within hours after the blaze.

Cary Simpson, owner of WTRN and WGMF-FM, said about $30,000 worth of equipment was destroyed in the blaze that gutted a two-story frame building that housed both stations.

The stations were off the air when the fire broke out shortly after 2 a.m. But Simpson said his stations signed on at their regular 6:30 a.m. time Sunday with equipment provided by several nearby radio stations and other affiliates of the Allegheny Mountain Radio Network.

List Origin

A restaurant, shoe store and apartment located in the building also were destroyed by the fire. No injuries were reported although Mrs. Geraldine Cowher, who occupied the apartment, was left homeless.

Fire Chief John Keefer said the fire apparently started in the restaurant. He did not estimate total damages.

Bomb Blasts In Nicosia

Greeks Observe Freedom Day

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Bomb explosions damaged two mosques—used by Cypriots of Turkish descent—in the Greek quarter of Nicosia on this Greek Independence Day. A Turkish news bulletin broadcast by the government radio later said one bomb wrecked the tomb of the Turkish Unknown Soldier.

Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, leader of the Turkish community, called the bombings a very serious matter and another Turkish leader, Raouf Denktash, appealed to Turkish Cypriots not to accept reprisals.

Wired To Clock

The early morning explosions were first believed to be just noise-making associated traditionally with Greek Independence Day.

A police explosives expert said five bombs in one mosque—the Bairaktar—were wired to a cheap alarm clock. Four exploded, wrecking the minaret, or pulpit, and blowing a large hole halfway up the minaret, or spire. It was here, the Turkish broadcast said, that the Unknown Soldier shrine was wrecked. It honored the first Turkish soldier to scale Nicosia's walls when it was conquered by the Turks 400 years ago.

Theories

The other mosque was the Omerie, which had been a Turkish shrine since the Turks occupied Nicosia in the 16th century. One bomb exploded here, blowing a small hole in the minaret.

Some Greeks suggested the bombs might have been set off by Turkish extremists to provoke trouble on this island. Persons of Greek descent outnumber those of Turkish descent about four to one.

Steel Talks Will Resume

Work On New Labor Contracts

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Rested-up steel negotiators return to the bargaining tables Monday to work on labor contracts for basic steelworkers.

Both sides took the weekend off, saying they were tired and need some rest.

Negotiating teams, headed by R. Conrad Cooper of U.S. Steel Corp. and David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, had been meeting twice daily since negotiations were opened on March 14.

The union reportedly is seeking a 16-cent package for some 430,000 basic steelworkers. Observers say the companies have offered an eight-cent package.

Current pacts, which expire June 30, give steelworkers an average of $3.28 an hour.

Negotiations started in the middle of February and collapsed on March 2 with both sides reported far from agreement on chief issues.
